

Grow
your impact

The text "Grow your impact" is centered in a white, sans-serif font. Above the word "Grow" is a white line-art icon of a plant stem with a single leaf and a teardrop-shaped seed or fruit at the top.

How will your business grow?

Energy companies that put power in the hands of people.
Housing companies that provide decent, affordable homes for those who most need them.
Agribusinesses pioneering truly sustainable methods of farming.

The business world is buzzing with ideas that promise to transform our world for the better. Now's the time for them to grow.

Introducing the Social Stock Exchange

The Social Stock Exchange shines a light on innovative businesses and connects them with the investment they need to grow their impact.

Our members

gain access to Europe's first regulated stock exchange for companies with social and environmental purpose.

For companies that means the visibility and the connections they need to attract the right investment.

For investors

it means more opportunities to make social and environmental impact alongside a financial return.

To Good Energy being part of the Social Stock Exchange is more than just about investment, it reinforces our promise to ‘do the right thing’ not only for shareholders but for our customers, the community, the environment and our work force

Juliet Davenport, CEO – Good Energy Group plc

Oikocredit has been impact investing in development for over 40 years, but the Social Stock Exchange consistently brings us to the attention of much-needed new groups of investors, helping us to grow our own profile, investor base and ultimately, our social and environmental impact

Monica Middleton, National Director
UK & Ireland – Oikocredit
